Line #10 in the previous set of code establishes the first of two foreign keys for sales. A foreign key is a column in one table that is the primary key in another table. For instance, notice that different rows can share the same OrderID value in the sales table, which disqualifies OrderID from being the primary key in this table.

4 8 16 In the first call to the function, we only define the argument a, which is a mandatory, positional argument. In the second call, we define a and n, in the order they are defined in the function. Finally, in the third call, we define a as a positional argument, and n as a keyword argument.. If all of the arguments are optional, we can even call the function with no arguments.
